Write a loving letter to your mother,
Always try and cheer her lonely heart;
Promise that you'll never forget her,
And soon will meet, but never more to part,
Think how tenderly she used to nurse you,
A friend so true, you ne'er will find another;
So now you should repay those poor old hairs of gray,
So write a loving letter to your mother.

CHORUS

Write a loving letter to your mother,
Always try to cheer her lonely heart;
Now you should repay those poor old hairs of gray,
So write a loving letter to your mother.

Write a loving letter to your mother,
Say that to your home you'll soon return;
Send her words of love and always cheer her,
Tell her that your heart for home does yearn.
Think how she wept when last you parted,
And tried her sad feelings then to soothe,
So now when far away, for you she'll surely pray,
So write a loving letter to your mother.

CHORUS.

Write a loving letter to your mother,
Always try to cheer her lonely heart;
Now you should repay those poor old hairs of gray,
So write a loving letter to your mother.
